Introduction

It is time to learn nightwings! Read this guide carefully before your test next full moon! If you fail you will be sent to the lava pits where you will die in great pain! Understood? Now let the learning begin!

All you need to know about Nightwings

Nightwings are by far the best tribe and are superior to every other tribe. Don't forget that!

Looks

They have been described to have forked, pitch-black tongues, as well as dark scales which are usually black or in shades of dark green, blue, or purple. They also have silver, white, gray, purple, dark green, or blue underbellies, and dapples of silver scales running along their necks. Their wings have silver scales scattered across them like the stars of a night sky, forming different patterns. These patterns are genetic. Nightwings have been described with black, dark blue, dark brown, purple, or dark green eyes. They have straight horns.

Abilities

Nightwings can melt into shadows and blend into the night sky due to their colors and wing patterns. They can read minds and are prophets. Nightwings are a nocturnal tribe that can blend into the night sky and shadows. They can also breathe fire, and most modern Nightwings have harmful bacteria in their mouths which can poison animals with a single bite.They have a strong sense of smell and powerful night vision.

Diet

They bite their prey, poisoning it with bacteria from inside their mouths, and leave it to decease. After it was dead, they return to eat it. On the island, seafaring birds can be found. They also hunt in the rainforest, including sloths. Most Nightwings eat once per week, which contributed to their malnutrition.

Habitat

Volcanic island but in the past when the Darkstalker was alive, they live in the old night kingdom.

Animus Magic

Nightwings have animus dragons, with the earliest known powers tracing back to the Nightwing-Icewing hybrid Darkstalker. All known animus Nightwing dragons are descended from Whiteout , as she carried animus genetics while Darkstalker did not have dragonets.

Darkstalker era

In the time of Darkstalker, Nightwing mothers typically named their dragonets. The tribe also functioned nocturnally. Nightwings of higher status lived in higher homes in the cliffs, while lower ones lived closer to the bottom, where less desirable homes were. They also appeared to value knowledge and reading, as they had an extensive library and honored the first librarians of the kingdom. In Clearsight's time, the Nightwings were famous for their intertribal relations, open trade partnerships, literature, and artwork, which had been sold across the continent. Dragons from all over Pyrrhia brought them new ideas, inventions, and discoveries. Most dragonets started school when they were one year old.
